

What will you START doing?

I believe myself to be a very vocal member within my department and always strive to ensure I treat every colleague as an individual in the same manner. However, I think there are always ways in which we can improve, and therefore, I will look to start being more contextually aware of my surroundings to ensure I am aware when racist language is being actively used. This will allow me to call out/report this behaviour to ensure the perpetrator is aware of how their actions/language has come across, which can also assist in calling out accidental racism caused by ignorance/mis-education.
